

Comparing President Trump and Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Rev. Dante Murphy Comments on Vice President Mike Pence statement Both “inspired us to Change.” Forwarded by Robert A. Williams

Rev. Murphy Writes (January 21, 2019):

Robert,

You think Pence is reading your articles. I too compared the two in the opinion I sent you-thought this was interesting.

<https://www.newsweek.com/mike-pence-compares-trump-martin-luther-king-jr-eve-mlk-day-both-inspired-us-1298644>

Rev. Dante' A. Murphy

www.manhollowmbc.com

www.pendercountynaacp.com

My response:

Dante, those were your comments that I agreed with.

(Folks, Scroll on back a few articles and re-read Rev. Murphy's two articles of comments.)

Also, VP Pence may very well have read that article. Google has picked us up on their search engines and a Google search on various subjects and people will link us to the subject. Most often within the top five articles. Often the first.

It's like the ancient Greek philosopher Socrates once said, "I cannot teach anybody anything, I can only make them think."

You are like Socrates too. You make people think. Too bad the fake news folks just don't get it.

Keep up the good work.

Robert A. Williams

PS: Socrates also said "The only good is knowledge and the only evil is ignorance." We sure have a lot of evil running around. Let's change that. We can be like MLK and DJT too.